Dear Francisco Lebron:

I am responding to your letter dated March 27, 2002 that you wrote regarding missing items in the nonprovisional patent application that was filed.

Per a phone conversation I had with your office on 3/19/02 in regards to an error in processing a deposit to my account, I was told that if I enclosed a letter from the bank, then the additional charges would be dropped. So, on 3/21/02, I sent the following:

- Letter from the bank indicating an error in deposit
- Check #2187 for $496.00

So, below you will find responses to the missing items claimed in your letter of March 27, 2002. I am assuming that you have not received my letter of March 21, 2002 as of the writing of this letter.

- Statutory basic filing fee of $370 missing – included in above check for $496.00
- Claim fee of $126 missing – included in above check for $496.00
- Late fee of $65 for a small entity – eliminated due to bank error in deposit per your office
- Processing fee of $50 for returned check – eliminated due to bank error in deposit per your office
- Balance due of $611 – no balance now due per above

In addition, it was stated that the specification was not in compliance with 37 CFR 1.52 because of:

- Line spacing
- Abstract must be on a separate sheet

So enclosed, you will find a new specification in compliance with the above. I apologize for any inconvenience that this has caused you. Please contact me immediately at (253) 639-9507 if this does not clear up the matter.

Sincerely,

Steven C. Robertson
